DEMOCRATS GET READY TO MOVE.

Realty Agents at Capital Think They Expect to Leave in Six Months.

(DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.)
WASHINGTON, Oct. 3.—Washington real estate agents have been flooded with requests during the last two weeks that rent renewals be for a period of six months only instead of a year, as is customary here. An assistant attorney-general and a number of lesser Democratic officials are among those who have made the requests. Other officials who have signed full-year leases have taken less expensive quarters. The interpretation put on these requests by the real estate men is that the Democrats concede the election of Hughes and do not want to be paying rent on Washington quarters after they have moved back home next March.

The people kill and eat the street dogs. A short time ago they killed and ate a living man. Of 450 women living in one village, she saw her husband and three sons tied together and shot with one bullet. She saw her daughters outraged and then killed. She was carried away by a Kurd, but escaped by night, naked, and after terrible suffering fell in with some refugees.

In the literal sense of the word, 100,000 to 120,000 Armenians arrived at Etchmiadzin, stripped of even their outer garments. There 11,000 people died and 40,000 more in the country.

"In Aleppo relief funds are so inadequate that many exiles in the destitute places have only grass to eat, and they are dying of starvation by the hundreds. Erzurum could not have been dealt with most severely. Less than 200 Armenians out of 20,000 have escaped death or deportation.

At the first caravan of 400 people sent from Deir Zor to Ana the Arabs killed 500 on the way. In a native letter from Haleh last week the number of orphans at that place was estimated at 25,000. Some of the villages lost more than one-third of their population."

SEATTLE HONOR FOR NEW ENVOY

Business Men Give Dinner to Ambassador Sato.

Premier Count Okuma, Friend of America, Resigns.

Cholera Cases Increasing in Tokio and Osaka.

(BY PACIFIC CABLE.)
TOKIO, Oct. 4.—Count Okuma, the Prime Minister of Japan, resigned today owing to his advanced age.

The members of the Cabinet also tendered their resignations to the Emperor.

SEATTLE, Oct. 3.—Dr. Almro Sato, the newly-arrived Ambassador of Japan to the United States, was a guest of honor at a dinner given tonight by Judge Thomas Burke, president of the Seattle Chamber of Commerce, and attended by business men and steamship officials. Dr. Sato spoke of the good relations existing between the people of the Pacific Northwest and the Japanese who dwell among them, and said:

"The message which I bring from the people of Japan to the people of the United States is nothing but the assurance of friendship and good will, and I know the latter people will reciprocate in full measure."

The Ambassador will leave for Washington tomorrow.

Judge Burke, in his address welcoming the Ambassador, said: "I am happy to say tonight that it has been the aim of this community in all its intercourse with the Japanese neighbors to follow the Golden Rule—doing as we would be done by. By this plain course, fully reciprocated by our Japanese neighbors, we have for more than a quarter of a century lived and traded and prospered together in peace and good-will."

In his address Ambassador Sato said:

"I am told today Seattle is getting the lion's share in the trade and commerce between this country and Japan which is growing with leaps and bounds. This it may owe much to its advantageous geographical position, being situated so near to Japan, but I am sure it owes more to the energetic and enterprising spirit of its citizens."

"I hope I can be of some service in increasing trade and commerce between Japan and this country, and I pray you to co-operate with me to the same end."

CHOLERA IN TOKIO NOW.
(A. P. FOREIGN CORRESPONDENCE.)
TOKIO, Sept. 12.—The most important development in the cholera situation in Japan is its appearance in the capital of Tokio, where about eighty cases have appeared, thirty of them fatal. The disease is also increasing in the city of Osaka and has broken out in other parts of Japan, including the summer resort at Karuzawa. Urgent precautions have been taken everywhere.

The total number of cases throughout Japan since the beginning is believed to be about 3000, though the official figures are no longer announced by the Home Department. This is attributed to a desire not to unnecessarily alarm the population.

Taft and Roosevelt.
The time they last exchanged greetings. Both were more gray, with the lines of their faces deepening into wrinkles. And Mr. Taft was nearly 100 pounds heavier when he was President than now.
When they were brought face to face tonight by Mr. Sheldon, there was no word of introduction—no time for it. For a fraction of a second their eyes met and each looked into the other's unsmiling face. Then Mr. Taft extended his hand and Col. Roosevelt took it.
There were other handshakes of a formal nature. Among them were the meetings between George W. Perkins and Mr. Taft and between Col. Roosevelt and Boies Penrose, Senator from Pennsylvania. As in the case of the greeting between Taft and Roosevelt, the commonplaces of meeting were exchanged.
Mr. Root, as president of the club, stood first in the receiving line, with Mr. Hughes at his right. Others in the line, in the order named, were: Col. Roosevelt, Mr. Dewey, Mr. Taft, Gen. Horace Porter, former president of the club; Gov. Whitman of New York; Senator Fall of New Mexico; Gov. Boreman of Rhode Island; Mr. Wilcox, Mr. Calder, Senator Weeks, Mr. Bacon and W. Cameron Forbes. The line of guests was nearly two hours in passing and then the speaking began.

Trees—trees—hundreds of 'em at Walnut Park—big luxuriant, full-bearing walnut trees—from three to six on every lot. It takes trees to make a real homeplace. Add big shade trees to any treeless homestead and you immediately increase its value 25 to 40 per cent. Trees are positive evidence of superior soil-richness. And note this fact—Walnut Park trees produce a certain sure income year after year.

Court Denies Injunction to Tie Japanese Hands.

Ship's Captain Rescues Boat of Enemy Company.

Holding that he had not been shown any Federal or State statute or treaty that denies the right of Japanese to fish in American waters, Judge Wellborn yesterday denied eight large tuna-packing companies a temporary injunction against the Halibut Tuna Packing Company, restraining the latter company from buying fish from Japanese under contract to sell their catch to the big concern. He also overruled a demurrer to the complaints and ordered answers to be filed by Satur-

The courtroom was filled with representatives of the big tuna companies and well-dressed Japanese, and others who showed the deep tan of deep-sea fishing. It was contended by Earl Rogers, J. A. Anderson and H. L. Giesler, attorneys

The packing companies, through Attorney E. A. Meserve, complained that the defendant company sends out boats that meet the under contract, and buys fish at a price higher than that for which the contract calls. The court is asked to restrain the defendant from keeping up this practice. The attorneys for the defendant contend these contracts made by the alleged combine operate in restraint of trade, and are illegal.

While their respective employers were preparing to fly at each other's legal throats in Judge Wellborn's court, the captains of two rival fisher boats early Monday morning buried the hatchet on the high seas. The one, captain for the defendant, submitted to the

The good Samaritan of the episode was the big tender Theo-Hy of the Halfhill Tuna Packing Company of Long Beach, and the recipient was the small fishing boat Alpha, chartered by the White Star Canning Company.

The puppy, also of Long Beach. The Alpha was trying to make port, loaded with more than twenty tons of fish, when her anchor washed away and she swung broadside to the waves, taking water with every swell. The Theo-Hy came by just in time, and connecting up with a tow line, gulled the Alpha into Los Angeles Harbor.

CHILDREN HELP PREVENTORIUM.

Thousands of Little Ones Collect Waste Paper.

School Board to Set Aside Day Each Month.

Clubs and Commercial Bodies Get Behind Movement.

Five thousand Los Angeles school children carried magazines and papers to their various schools yesterday in an effort to assist in the establishing of a tuberculosis preventorium for the poorer children of the city. Approximately two and one-half tons of papers were collected and sold to the Economy Paper Company. The price paid for the "waste" was $10 per ton.

Yesterday was the first step in the spreading of this custom throughout the schools of the city, as but ten schools were used for the experiment. Altogether there are more than 400 grammar schools and it is expected that with paper being collected at all these schools the preventorium will shortly be constructed. It is the intention of the board of education to extend the practice of collecting paper in this manner to the various intermediate and high schools of the city in the future.

FIRST TIME HERE.
The movement was first advocated here by Dr. Norman Bridge, president of the Los Angeles Society for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis. The idea of "waste paper day" has been successfully tried in many of the large cities of the East, including New York, Boston, Philadelphia, and Baltimore, and also in San Francisco.

The children of the schools were instructed to bring whatever magazines and papers they could to aid the cause and the result was even more pleasing than expected. It is the intention of the board of education to set aside one day of each month as "waste paper day," hereafter.

SCHOOL CHILDREN HELP.
The paper was collected at the Fremont, Grand, Norwood and Magnolia-avenue schools and the Tenth, Hope, Cambria, Hoover, Seventeenth and Sixteenth-street schools, and the Hobart-boulevard school. The matter of informing the school heads of the establishment of paper day was placed under the direction of Assistant Superintendent of Schools Mrs. Dorsey. The magazines and papers collected were sufficient to fill a five-ton automobile truck and a five-ton trailer.

In the future all money received in this way will be paid into the Society for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis, under the auspices of which organization the preventorium will be constructed. "There are 5000 children," said Dr. Bridge, last night, "in Los Angeles who are living in families infected with tuberculosis. The preventorium will be established so that these children can be cared for until the others who have the disease are cured."

FAVOR PREVENTORIUM.
The Los Angeles Society for the study and prevention of tuberculosis held a meeting yesterday afternoon at the Friday evening Club. The gathering was attended by prominent members of many social and commercial bodies and it was decided to begin an active campaign to raise funds for the erection of a preventorium.

Dr. Bridge, president of the society, delivered an address emphasizing the necessity of such an institution, as did also Jonathan B. Mitchell, president of the Chamber of Commerce. Miss L. M. Tate of Sacramento also spoke and illustrated her address with a series of slides taken in clinics in all parts of the United States.

Mrs. Seward A. Simons, president of the Civic Club, acted as chairman and before introducing the speakers stated that the movement had the hearty endorsement of the club of which she is the head.

This meeting followed a luncheon at which the urgent need of a preventorium was discussed in an informal way by a number of other speakers, all of whom are taking a prominent part in the nation-wide campaign to build institutions where the disease may be deprived of new victims through the medium of segregation of those who are exposed to its ravages through some one of the family who has been afflicted.

LOVE IS HER HOPE.
Woman Who Wed Under a False Name and Married Again Without a Divorce Is Denied Decree of Annulment; Second Spouse Loyal.

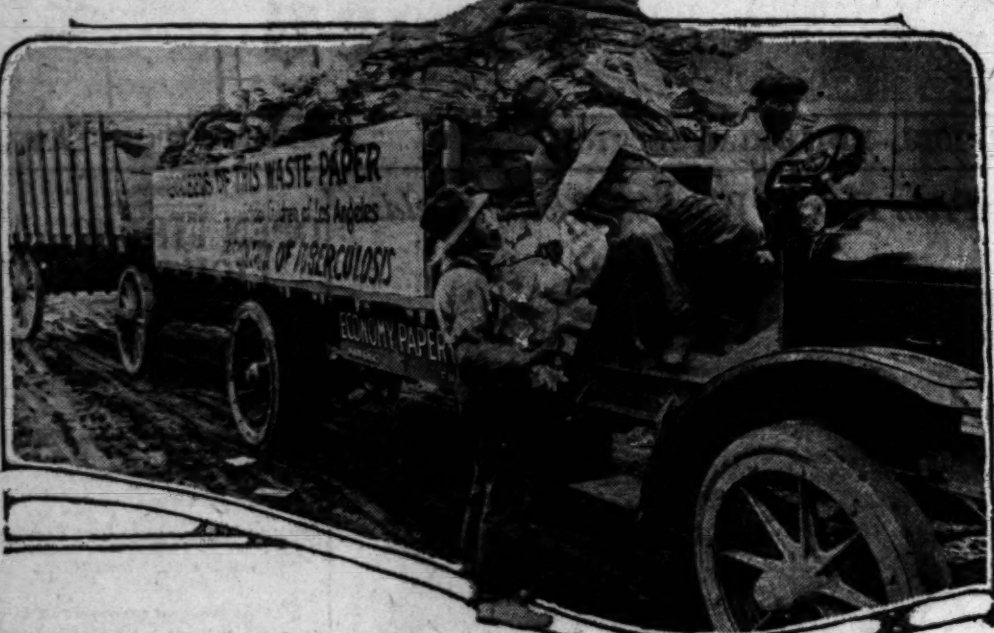

Bitter disappointment has been the lot of Mrs. Marion A. Armstrong and there is but one ray of sunshine. This ray shone through the clouds in Judge Wood's court yesterday, when Ulmer S. Armstrong, who sued to annul her marriage to Fannie M. Seely, admitted to the court that he loved her and will remarry the young woman as soon as he legally can. Judge Wood decreed the decree of annulment because of the unusual circumstances.

Mrs. Armstrong admitted she had married Mr. Seely under the name of Hagar. Although her real name was Maurey, she said, she had always been known as Hagar. But one day she was informed that the man whom she regarded as her father was in reality her uncle and she was his adopted child.

Under this poignant grief she left home and came to California, where she met Mr. Seely and married him under the name of Hagar. He left her and went into the army. An attorney told her, she said, that inasmuch as she had not married under her own name, the marriage was not legal, and acting under this advice she married Mr. Armstrong.

Mrs. Armstrong brought suit for divorce against Mr. Seely, which is pending. Judge Wood, who was unable to ascertain the legal status of her marriage to Mr. Seely until the divorce suit is tried, advised her to go on with it.

"Times" Solicitor Meets Adore and Marries Bishop Beauty in a Week, Cutting Out Two and a Half Into County Men in a Jiffy.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

BISHOP, Oct. 3.—First sight love and a bride in a week—that's what happened to F. O. Campi of Los Angeles, a Times solicitor. He came here seeking subscriptions and got them, and he also found romance and a wife. The girl was Miss Esther Millsap. They were married yesterday morning at 11:30 o'clock in the parlors of Hotel Istalia by Rev. Mr. Price of Big Pine. Regardless of the after-midnight hour, a large party of friends was present. Mrs. Helen Ridenbaugh, daughter of Mayor Eaton of Los Angeles, was mistress of honor, and Pleasant Smith, the wrestler, best man. The wedding supper—no, not breakfast—was served in a cafe at 3 a.m., and there were a dozen guests. The bride and groom will go to Los Angeles to reside after November 1. Mr. Campi came to the Owens Valley a few weeks ago and got busy increasing The Times circulation, which was an easy matter. The local Times agent is Jay W. Bernard, and in the Bernard store the solicitor made his headquarters. And in that store, just a week ago, appeared a new clerk—Miss Millsap. Since that time Mr. Campi has had an amazing volume of business to look after in the store. Finally the store got too small and the two young persons decided to occupy the whole world together.

There must be something to the man who can come to Leno county a stranger and take a bride in a week. The proportion of women is small here, the men outnumbering them about two and a half to one. So, according to statistics, Mr. Campi, stranger, cut out two and a half known men and did it in a jiffy.

LONE LOOTER IS EAGERLY SOUGHT.

ENTERS MONETA POSTOFFICE AND TAKES FUNDS.

Federal Officials Nourished by Activities of Individual Whose Theft Net Him Little and Who Refuses Stamp—Find Some of His Tools at Florence.

The lone looter, who, within the past thirty days, has "touched" a dozen country postoffices, where his booty has amounted to from a few pennies to $4.75, is at it again.

Monday night, the same individual who has so far eluded the score of officers, State and Federal, on his trail entered the store of Thomas C. Pitman, at Moneta, where Mr.

Pitman is postmaster, and stole postal funds amounting to $1.50, and three registered letters, whose value is unknown. He also went through the transom of the Smith & Chamber store, and secured 80 cents in pennies. When the marauder departed he left a steel brake-shoe key, which is now in the possession of Postoffice Inspector Ranger.

When the robbery of the office at Florence, last Friday night, was investigated, Inspector Ranger found a number of articles that the thief evidently used in his business, including a jimmy, a syringe used for shooting nitroglycerine into places where it will do the most good, a bunch of matches, bits of candles, a dynamite fuse, dynamite caps, a roll of tape used to seal cracks in doors, and a hammer bearing the initials "M. S."

The present series of petty-larceny robberies, involving country postoffices, is the most bewildering that the local postoffice inspectors have ever tried to solve. In not a single case, except in the Moneta robbery, has there anything been taken but money. There has not been a stamp molested. The country postoffices are usually located in stores, where there is an abundance of articles that might appeal to a thief, but nothing is touched. There have been opportunities to take valuable jewelry, but it was not molested. Money and that only is the one thing the marauder is looking for. It is estimated that the thief has not profited to the extent of $5 a week in cash since he has been in the bandit game.

In but a single instance has he been seen. In the Placencia robbery, the unknown was observed entering a small store on a side street, but for some reason the alarm was not given until too late to apprehend the fellow.

MADE A MISTAKE.

B. H. Hopkins informed yesterday that he had really given a check to Edward Martin as a note, having intended the latter that he had no money to pay the bank at the time it was given, but would have some soon and Martin accepted the paper on the basis. Hopkins was arrested on a complaint of Martin, who was in the Van Nuys Hotel, after fixing the date of the robbery for Friday. Hopkins was allowed to go on his own recognizance.

VERMONT-ARVINE MEETING.

A mass meeting of all organizations and individuals interested in the project of opening, widening and paving Vermont avenue "from the mountains to the sea" was called for tonight in Ballroom, Hill Gardens, at 8 o'clock. The meeting will be held under the auspices of the Executive Committee of the Vermont-Avenue Development Association.

Life's Gentle Society.

Miss Helen McCall daughter of Thomas McCall of Santa Monica, became the bride of Newton Forster, Jr., last evening at the Presbyterian Church at Santa Monica, the Rev. W. H. Corbett officiating.

Miss McCall was one of the seven brides at the wedding. The ceremony was crowded to overflowing. A reception took place afterward at the McCall home, at which about seventy guests were entertained.

The bride, gowned in white satin and a soft, filmy veil, was given away by her father, the popular golf player, Los Angeles and Brentwood Country Club. She carried a bouquet of lilies of the valley and white orchids. Her bridesmaids were Misses Henrietta Hunt, Joan and Alison McCall, as bridesmaids, gowned in pleasant bouffant dresses in the new dahlia shade, fashioned in taffeta and georgette crepe. Paul Nouras supported the bridegroom as best man.

The newlyweds left for their honeymoon immediately after the ceremony, slipping away from the reception to a destination unknown, and will return to reside on Dana street, Los Angeles, in about three weeks.

Reception.

Mrs. Thilo Becker's reception and party for Monsieur and Madame Ignace Paderewski was a brilliant affair last evening, attended by several hundred guests in the afternoon, when Madame made her poignant pathetic appeal on behalf of the ruined girls of Poland, with such a successful result.

This afternoon there will be a large open reception at the Alexander, when the wonderful dolls, designed by Poland's most famous artist, will be on exhibition, together with numerous other souvenirs for sale to the sympathizers.

The Graceland Dinner.
Mr. and Mrs. Secondo Guasti of West Adams street gave a notable Italian dinner to thirty of their friends at their vineyard home on Sunday. It was a merry feast amid the vines and flowers, such as only Guasti can give. The Guasti vineyards are among the most famous in the world and the head of the house has been decorated by the King of Italy in recognition of his achievements.

TREND OF THE FINANCIAL NEWS.
CHIEF EVENTS OF YESTERDAY.
(At Home.) Irregularity marked the course of prices in Wall street, but 1,140,000 shares made up the total of the day's business. In this huge aggregate increased demand for rail issues was noteworthy and afforded the market much of its stability. Bonds were firm to strong, with total sales, per value, of $4,135,000.

GO TO THE EXPO.
Only a few more weeks remain of the lovely San Diego exposition. No one who has thus far neglected it can afford to pass this chance. It is a dream of beauty and of peace. It represents the fruition of a brave effort worthy of a larger and richer city. The foliage and the trees and flowers which make up so important a part of the exposition have now attained a luxuriant growth. It is like a beautiful old Moorish city. It seems more like a legend than an actuality.

DANGEROUS PERIOD.
It will be interesting to see what happens when the National Guard regiments come marching home from the Mexican border. Their letters indicate that they are heartily and thoroughly sick of camp life and army service. They want to come home so eagerly they can taste it with their army beans.

It remains to be seen how faithfully and enthusiastically they will return to their armories and take up again the burdens and the duties of their National Guard service. If they do what they ought to do, our military problems will have been materially lessened by the substitution of hardened, practiced troops, ready for service in place of green militiamen ridiculously unfit for the field.

FAKERS.
Our good old friend, the faker from Copenhagen, seems to have gone into the discard along with the faker from Amsterdam. The faker from Switzerland is having his innings again.

He is slipping us the real and confidential reason why the Kaiser dismissed Von Falkenhayn and what the Kaiser said when he heard that Rumania had gone into the war.

Whenever you read what the Kaiser said to Von Hindenburg the old faker is on the job again. Nobody outside a half a dozen officers of high rank know what the Kaiser says about anything. And they don't make confidential journeys to the Swiss frontier to give the information to our old friend, Baron Haysanpapa.

ANOTHER OFFENSIVE.
Late dispatches indicate that the Teutonic armies are about to face another offensive of first-class magnitude. The Russians are hammering at Lemberg again.

In addition to their obvious reasons for attacking a railroad center of such magnitude, it is apparent that the Russians hope by the Lemberg offensive to drive off from Galicia all German attempts to relieve the Austrians now facing a Russian invasion from the north and a Rumanian attack from the east.

Although the fighting is probably not so fierce as on the west front, the importance of these east-front actions is greater. The outcome of this war depends upon whether the allies can drive a wedge in between Austria and Bulgaria. All efforts in all theaters of action are devoted directly or indirectly to the fulfillment of that object.

IT TIGHT.
Irrespective of the merits of the "Wet or Dry" campaign, this seems to be a mighty poor time in the world's history to be tinkering around much with new experiments.

After the great European war it is evident that the world is likely to be in a condition of chaos. The only remedy is for the strong to sit tight and hold on with all their might. The weak? God knows what will become of the weak.

With labor troubles looming dangerously in every quarter of the world, with finances shot to pieces, with the hard sociological problems that are bound to arise from the fact that several million women will be without means of support, there will be enough to think about without undertaking the industrial complications involved in a wholesale rearrangement of the viticultural industry.

LOOK OUT FOR THE O'LEARYS!
The O'Learys family once burned the city of Chicago, and the O'Learys' telegram will do a great deal toward giving the United States a new President.

Mr. Wilson's catty reply to Mr. O'Leary, declaring in effect that Americans who protest against entangling alliances with England are "disloyal," is his worst political blunder. The President's political managers, with feverish haste, have changed the subject. They don't say anything more about Mr. O'Leary or his telegram. It is announced that they will henceforth talk about what Mr. Hughes' foreign policy will be if he becomes President.

OUR FIGHTING CALIFORNIANS.

Since the war started four thousand Californians have left this State to take positions on the firing lines in Europe. These will be found to have nearly all enlisted on the side of the allies, although two-thirds of them, according to the British Consul at Los Angeles, are American citizens.

By far the greater number of these California fighters are stirred by the desire for adventure and the lure of the sensational, two traits that will probably remain potent in human affairs so long as human beings have red blood in their veins. Why these American fighters are mostly found in the ranks of the French and British is obvious, ocean travel being closed to the ports of Germany.

Yet here in California surely the love of adventure could be more worthily satisfied than by crossing oceans to foreign lands to kill and be killed. Little personal glory can be gained by becoming a cog in the gigantic war machine of Europe, and that is all an enlisted man can hope to do under the mechanical conditions of modern warfare. One can admire the spirit that roused these California enthusiasts to become active participants in the greatest struggle in the history of nations; and at the same time he must regret the shortage in patriotism that could induce an American citizen to take up arms for any but an American cause under his own American flag.

And how few of California's fighting thousands will return to the land of comfort they so impetuously forsook! Those who do return whole and unscathed from the bloody fields of Europe will no doubt be strengthened and braced by the discipline and experiences they have undergone to more vigorous efforts in the no less exciting and far more useful adventures of peace. For it is well that a man always face civil life and its problems as fearlessly as a soldier must face death on the battlefield.

To be in a desperate hurry to succeed in a desperate enterprise has become almost the controlling spirit with twentieth-century men and women. Even at that, however, no one need leave western America and the laurels in other countries that the world seeks and treasures must be a solid standing at home wears better in the long run than a "bubble reputation at the cannon's mouth."

America has occupation for all her adventurous spirits. There are deserts to be conquered, natural forces to be subdued, water power to be harnessed, mineral riches to be blasted from the solid rock, engineering problems to be solved and military protection to be perfected for our people at home. Here better reputations for courage and endurance can be won than by passing through the crimson gates of the European hell.

THE POLITICS OF EUROPE.
"Back of the Republican party," said the President in his Las Vegas speech, "are those who wish to inject into our politics the politics of Europe." Our President was hard up for campaign ammunition when he was forced to make this statement. For of course back of the Republican party are men determined to keep both us and our politics out of the politics of Europe by forcing all nations to recognize that America will be governed only by American and American principles.

What is Wilson's own European record? The Underwood tariff, based on the old free-trade theories of two Englishmen, Bright and Cobden, is European, not American politics. Nothing was ever more un-American than Wilson's attitude toward Huerta—back of that personal animus was the politics of the courts of Europe. Truckling to union-leader leaders for the last seven years has been the policy of the English government—Wilson has improved upon this European precedent in forcing the Adamson bill through Congress.

We admit one European policy that President Wilson has not copied. This policy, once upon a time, was more American than European, only the Democrats have allowed it to fall into disuse. It was this: That no American citizen in any part of the world should ever call in on his country to protect him in his lawful rights—the chief of which is the right not to be murdered on foreign soil. This is still the policy of Germany and Great Britain and will be restored to America when the Republican party again resumes the reins of government.

FAIRBANKS'S MESSAGE.

Charles Warren Fairbanks, the Republican candidate for Vice-President, did not indulge in what is called "spectacular oratory" before his Los Angeles audience. He is not the kind of man who does that sort of thing, anyway; and moreover "spectacular oratory," with its "fine" phrases and rounded periods, is the stuff in which spellbinders find refuge from the plain, vital issues.

Mr. Fairbanks plainly told the truth about the needs of the country and the failures of the present administration and drove it home. A time limit keeps any man from telling the whole truth, but Mr. Fairbanks made many good points. One of the gross blunders of the Democratic administration is its tariff legislation. The tariff is of tremendous importance to California; and it is significant that prolonged applause greeted Mr. Fairbanks when he made this arraignment:

"One thing about which I very strongly complain of our Democratic friends is their wanton overthrow of the protective policy of William McKinley and the Republican party. They went about it in quite a business-like way. Mr. Wilson convened Congress in special session and they met merely about tearing down the great bulwark of security to the industrial development of America. They particularly disregarded the welfare of the State of California, her industries and her great resources, and opened them up in the midst to invasion from the four quarters of the world."

In words that sank in, Mr. Fairbanks called attention to the need this country will have for a firm, aggressive, alert administration to meet the desperate economic situation that will inevitably confront us when the war has ended; and he forcefully pointed to the indecision and characteristic bungling of the present administration, which has not kept faith with the people nor done anything to inspire the public to believe in the ability of the Wilson administration or in the efficacy of Democratic principles.

Mr. Fairbanks effectively ridiculed the cherished Democratic plea for Mr. Wilson's re-election on the theory that "he has kept us out of war." "There is a little infirmity," Mr. Fairbanks remarked, "in that utterance because, as a matter of fact, he has not kept us out of war. War was made by him in Mexico," and then Mr. Fairbanks succinctly summed up some of the tragic results of the "personal war" which Mr. Wilson declared upon Huerta—whose "crime," as all the world knows, was not to have morals of which Mr. Wilson approved.

In closing Mr. Fairbanks urged the people of California to weigh carefully all of the questions involved in the campaign, and to remember that: "The past has gone and all record of it is of no interest or value whatever except as a guide to the future. We know there are vital questions opening and they must be settled well or for four years at least we shall be afloat again upon the sea of uncertainty. The wage-earners are interested indeed; the property-owners, workmen, capitalists, the farmers and the miners, all are interested in a sober, rational settlement of these questions, for they will govern us for four years to come and possibly affect our destiny beyond that."

NEED OF NITRATE PLANTS.
There is one measure upon which Republicans and Democrats in Congress ought to agree, and that is government construction, or government aid to construction, of plants all over the United States for the extraction of nitrogen from the air as a measure of both military and industrial preparedness.

A war either of offense or defense cannot be conducted without explosives; explosives cannot be made without nitric acid. The world's supply of nitric acid was, prior to the European war, procured from saltpeter imported from Chile, and it is from this source that the United States has mainly obtained, and is still obtaining, the saltpeter used in the manufacture of fertilizers.

In the event of war this source of supply might be cut off by an enemy navy exactly as Britain has cut it off from Germany for the past two years.

But there is another source from which nitric acid can be obtained in any country where there is cheap and available water power, and that is by the fixation of atmospheric nitrogen. This has been done in Europe. At the outbreak of the war Germany was expending for Chilean saltpeter used chiefly as a fertilizer about $50,000,000 per annum. She had in July, 1914, 600,000 metric tons of Chilean saltpeter valued at $30,000,000, sufficient for only a few months' needs. Her future supply from Chile was certain to be restricted, if not altogether cut off, by the British navy. With that resourcefulness which has characterized every movement of the German government she immediately proceeded to increase the air-nitrogen production within her borders by the investment of $100,000,000 and the employment of an additional continuous 300,000 horse power.

The allied powers have 500,000 continuous horse power expended exclusively in the fixation of air nitrogen for explosives, although the sea, which is closed to Germany, is practically open to them to import saltpeter from Chile, but the shortage of ships makes Chilean saltpeter for the manufacture of nitric acid more expensive than that made from the air.

As a fertilizer nitrogen produces more immediate and direct effects than application of phosphoric acid and potash alone. The nitrogen in many fertilizer mixtures costs more than the phosphoric acid and potash together, but it produces the greatest crop increase, especially in complete mixtures. It is illustrated by average yields obtained in tests covering fifty-five years at the Rothamsted (England) Experiment Station. These show that with no fertilizers 12.9 bushels of wheat and 11.75 bushels of straw were produced to the acre; with phosphate and potash only 14.8 bushels of wheat and 13.80 bushels of straw were produced; with nitrogen only 20.5 bushels of wheat and 20.00 bushels of straw were produced; and with a complete fertilizer, consisting of nitrogen and potash, 31.6 bushels of wheat and 35.70 bushels of straw were produced. Cheap fertilizers depend upon a cheap and plentiful nitrogen supply; the one adequate and assured source of nitrogen is the atmosphere and a cheap and adequate method of extracting nitrogen from the atmosphere exists wherever there is a rapidly-flowing stream that can be dammed, or a natural cataract that can be utilized.

Senator Underwood of Alabama, who is apparently endeavoring to explain the blow he inflicted upon the workers of the country with his tariff monstrosity, favoring the establishment of government nitrate manufacturing plants on navigable streams, said, in a speech in the United States Senate:

"The United States is about the only country in the world which is without the air-nitrogen industry; Japan, Norway, Sweden, Germany, France, Austria, Italy and Switzerland together conduct the industry on an enormous scale, employing 1,000,000 continuous horse power, involving an investment of $150,000,000, and an annual production which in normal times has a value of $78,000,000. The greatest water-power center of the world, with which none other can compare, is Niagara Falls, where at this time more power is being developed than ever in its history, namely, somewhat in excess of 450,000 continuous horse power. This is equivalent to about one-half of what the entire output of the United States are consuming in the fixation of atmospheric nitrogen."

California is especially blessed with opportunities for producing cheap fertilizers. She has swift-running streams which never felt an ice fever, where nitrogen can be cheaply drawn from the air. She has also practically inexhaustible help beds containing more potash to the ton than any similar deposits on the Atlantic Coast. The United States government is now at work establishing a factory where potash may be made from kelp. If to this it will add an air-nitrogen plant, and so demonstrate the cheapness with which fertilizers can be made, private capital will be invested in similar establishments and the yield of California acres will be vastly increased without the addition of a single day's labor upon them.

Weights Enormous Load.

[Popular Mechanics:] At West Albany, N. Y., one of the eastern railroad companies has installed a track scale which is theoretically capable of accommodating a 1,650,000 pound load. It is 100 feet in length and is an assemblage of six weighing instruments, each designed to have a capacity of 275,000 pounds.

INSTRUCTIVE AND PITHY COMPARISONS.

BY TOM FITCH.

The Republican party was in uninterrupted control of the government from March 4, 1897, when William McKinley was inaugurated President, until March 4, 1913, when Woodrow Wilson succeeded William H. Taft, with the exception of the period between April 4, 1911, and March 4, 1913, when the Democrats had a majority in the House of Representatives only, but did not have power to enact or repeal a Federal law.

From 1900 to 1913 our population increased from 76,000,000 to 97,000,000 and our wealth from $8,517,307,000 to $187,739,071,090. The per capita wealth of the continental United States in 1900 was $1164.79, and in 1913 was $1965. Our wealth increased during the period of Republican rule nearly 70 per cent., while our population increased but 27.7 per cent.

These figures of arithmetic, more powerful than the figures of rhetoric, are a complete answer to the statement that when the control of the government was taken over by the Democratic party in 1913 "the business and industrial life of the country was in a weak and deplorable condition." During the years between 1897 and 1912, under Republican rule, our national debt was decreased from $14.58 to $10.60 per capita—more than 28 per cent. The bank clearings of the United States amounted in 1900 to $54,582,000,000 and in 1913 to $178,000,000,000. The number of new markets through which the production of wheat increased 46 per cent., cotton 30 per cent. and beet sugar 750 per cent.

Said Congressman Norton of North Dakota, who carefully collated and arranged the statistics we have quoted: "Not alone in our domestic banking, farming, mining, manufacturing and commercial business do we find incontrovertible evidence of sound prosperity under Republican control of the government during the period between the Cleveland and Wilson administrations, but also do we find this evidence in our foreign trade. In 1900 our exports and foreign market amounted to $1,394,000,000. This was increased in 1913 to $2,465,000,000. The increase was not brought about through the occurrence of any great war, but by the exercise of American business enterprise fostered and protected by wise and sound economic legislation."

"For the ten months in which the Underwood tariff law was in operation before the beginning of the European war, which began in August, 1914, the bank clearings of the country were $3,300,000,000 less than during the corresponding period in 1912 and 1913 under Republican economic policies. Commercial failures increased from 1,100 in 1912 to 1,113,863,000 in 1913 and to 298,000 in 1914. Statistics also show a decrease of many millions of dollars in the amount expended for business operations during this period."

It is surprising in view of these facts that during this ten months thousands of men were out of employment, that hundreds of factories closed their doors, and that there was a dearth of new business enterprises and a halting of general industrial activity and a widespread apprehension and belief that the economic policies of the Democratic party would again, as in 1893, destroy rather than foster and encourage American business and industry.

It may be noted in this connection that the Underwood "tariff for revenue only" decreased the duties collected from customs from $315,181,616 in 1913 to $311,866,222 in 1915.

"Then in August, 1914, there suddenly burst on the world the gigantic European war and with it a tremendous demand for war munitions, war supplies and miscellaneous merchandise and foodstuffs needed in the struggle between the allied and central European powers."

"The conclusion from the facts and figures of our present export trade is inevitable that the United States is now a war prosperity power and simple. It is a prosperity constructed on no sound or lasting economic principle. It is a prosperity built like the house upon the sand and will be washed away by the first advancing wave of peace in Europe. It is a prosperity which will collapse after the war, but the very first negotiations for peace. When the dove of peace returns to the sea the cream of our present export business will become sour milk. Then American wage-earners will drop out of the pay line in tens of thousands if, while we lose the war markets of the world to the extent of thousands of millions of dollars each year, there are no permanent business industries to which they may turn for their bread and butter, because the vessels of all the world will be bringing their cargoes into our markets. Your poor old Democratic party is water-logged with opposition to our Republican party principles for the rebuilding of the American home industry and is hopelessly unable to provide means to meet the situation which is certain to follow the close of the European war. Your party does at last seem to realize the situation which confronts the nation and is making a pretense before the coming Presidential election of adopting some fundamental Republican economic policies."

We never set much store by Billy Sunday, but he certainly inculcated a happy thought in his song, "Beware the Corners Where You Are." The point is that there is something important to do wherever we may be situated.

OUR FAULT-FINDING CUSTOMERS.

BY WILFRED H. SCHOFF,
Secretary, the Commercial Museum;
Consul for Peru, Bolivia and Costa Rica; Author of "American Commerce and Investment in South America."

OUR rapidly-increasing trade with the South American countries, which is due partly to our own enterprise and partly to the closing of European sources of supply, has unfortunately not been a continuous procession of triumph. It has brought with it many justifiable complaints of unfair and irresponsible dealing, and of neglect of contract obligations, involving loss of money and time through delay in deliveries, to such an extent that more than one commercial organization in South America has held sessions to consider remedies and to protect members by appropriate action against further misdealing or loss.

The complaints fall commonly under five heads: Deliveries not made at the time specified; failure to carry out consignee's instructions as to method and route of shipment; failure to observe instructions as to the financing of the transaction; substitution of goods other than those of quality specified; and failure of attention to repeat orders.

To correct these conditions there can be no panacea. They arise too largely from the sudden meeting of strangers to each other, rather than from longer and more intimate acquaintance. The merchant in South America is just as unfamiliar with conditions of manufacture in the United States as is our manufacturer with the conditions under which the article must finally reach the consumer. Greater knowledge on both sides will naturally relieve much of the friction and misunderstanding. Where the friction is due to unfair or fraudulent dealing other relief must be found; but every country has its fraudulent trademark under which a higher percentage than its rivals. The main difference is that the South American buyer has learned through experience to avoid the fraud, while the American buyer has not.

Much was said a year or more ago about the supposed advantage of a national trademark under which, in some undefined manner, the endorsement of the Stars and Stripes, with the magic words "Made in the U. S. A.," might be made to carry the foreign buyer assurance of quality and fair dealing. A bill for registration of such trademarks was favorably reported at the recent session of Congress, but remained unacted upon owing, in part at least, to vigorous opposition by representative trade organizations. It would, indeed, be difficult to frame a bill which should admit the products of one trademarked manufacturer to national registration while excluding those of another. Most men of experience in foreign trade predicted that the result of such an act would be to drive the foreign manufacturer by manufacturers of doubtful or unfavorable reputation while standard lines must depend on their regular methods of advertising. "Made in Germany"—the prototype of our limitation—offers no safe precedent. Originally imposed upon German manufacturers by British law as a device to prevent the dumping of trash on the British market, it was adopted in Germany by way of retaliation as a national guide and undoubtedly stimulated in Germany improvement in methods of production.

The well-known improvement in quality of German exports to the South American market is attributed, not to any certificate of origin, but rather to the experience which showed that inferior quality does not bring repeat orders, and that efficient production had so progressed in Germany as to create definite advantages in the marketing of the better grades of merchandise.

Aside from a few cases against American manufacturers, where complaints arise from lack of business honor, no conditions of dissatisfaction exist which are not remediable by the manufacturer. It is the fault of the exporter to the reasons which impel the buyer to require service of the kind peculiar to his needs. On the part of the South American buyer it is not unreasonable for Americans to expect such appreciation of conditions of manufacture in this country as to dissuade him from expecting the impossible. It is the fact that South America is accustomed to buy from Europe many lines of goods which, inherently, are inferior to those made in this country—lines the mere copying of which would serve no useful purpose. Indeed, American manufacturers have, as yet, not begun to comprehend that their largest opportunities in South America lie along educational lines, in the teaching of the public to the use of goods, devices and articles in the production of which we excel.

President Lannin suggested that the meeting be opened at the park of Boston Nationals, where the American League will stage all their games owing to its immense capacity, instead of deciding the place of the initial games by the primary toss of the coin. This was adopted in view of the fact that both the Brooklyn and Philadelphia clubs would require several days in which to install additional seats and boxes to accommodate the large crowds that will fill the stands.

It is estimated that the Brooklyn primary in Illinois, held last night, was the most successful in the history of the National Commission, and that the game was a close one, with the Brooklyn team winning by a score of 10 to 9.

World's Series to Open on Saturday in Boston and After Second Game There on Monday Teams Switch to Brooklyn for Next Two; Eligible Players.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.] NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—The Boston American League Club and the Brooklyn Nationals will meet in the 1916 world's series, the opening game of which will be played on Braves Field at next Saturday, Oct. 7.

The teams will remain in Boston over Sunday and play the second game of the series there Monday, Oct. 9, after which they will return to Brooklyn for two games at Ebbets' Field on Tuesday and Wednesday, Oct. 10 and 11. The fifth and sixth games, if necessary, will be played Thursday, Oct. 12, and Friday, Oct. 13, at Boston and Brooklyn.

Should a seventh game be necessary the location of the contest will be decided by the toss of a coin. All these details were arranged by the National Baseball Commission this afternoon, but the winner in the National League was not known at that time, and the same dates that applied to Brooklyn also applied to the Philadelphia Nationals. Before nightfall, however, the victory of Brooklyn over New York and the double defeat administered to the Philadelphia Nationals by the Braves clinched the pennant for the Brooklyn players.

The National League pennant after one of the closest and most exciting races in the history of the senior league. The commission announced the eligible players as follows: Boston Americans—W. F. Carrigan (manager), Agnew, Barry, Cady, Foster, Galner, Gardner, Gregg, Hendricks, Hobbs, Hooper, Janvin, Jones, Leonard, Lewis, Mays, McNally, Ruth, Scott, Shore, Shorten, Thomas, Wagner, Walker, Walsh and Wyckoff.

Brooklyn Nationals—W. Robinson (manager), Appleton, Coughlin, Combs, Cheney, Daubert, Dell, Getz, Johnston, Miller, Malla, Myers, Oleson, O'Mara, Pfeiffer, Rucker, Smith, Stengel and Wheat. The umpires were announced as follows: American League—Dineen and Connolly. National League—O'Day and Quigley.

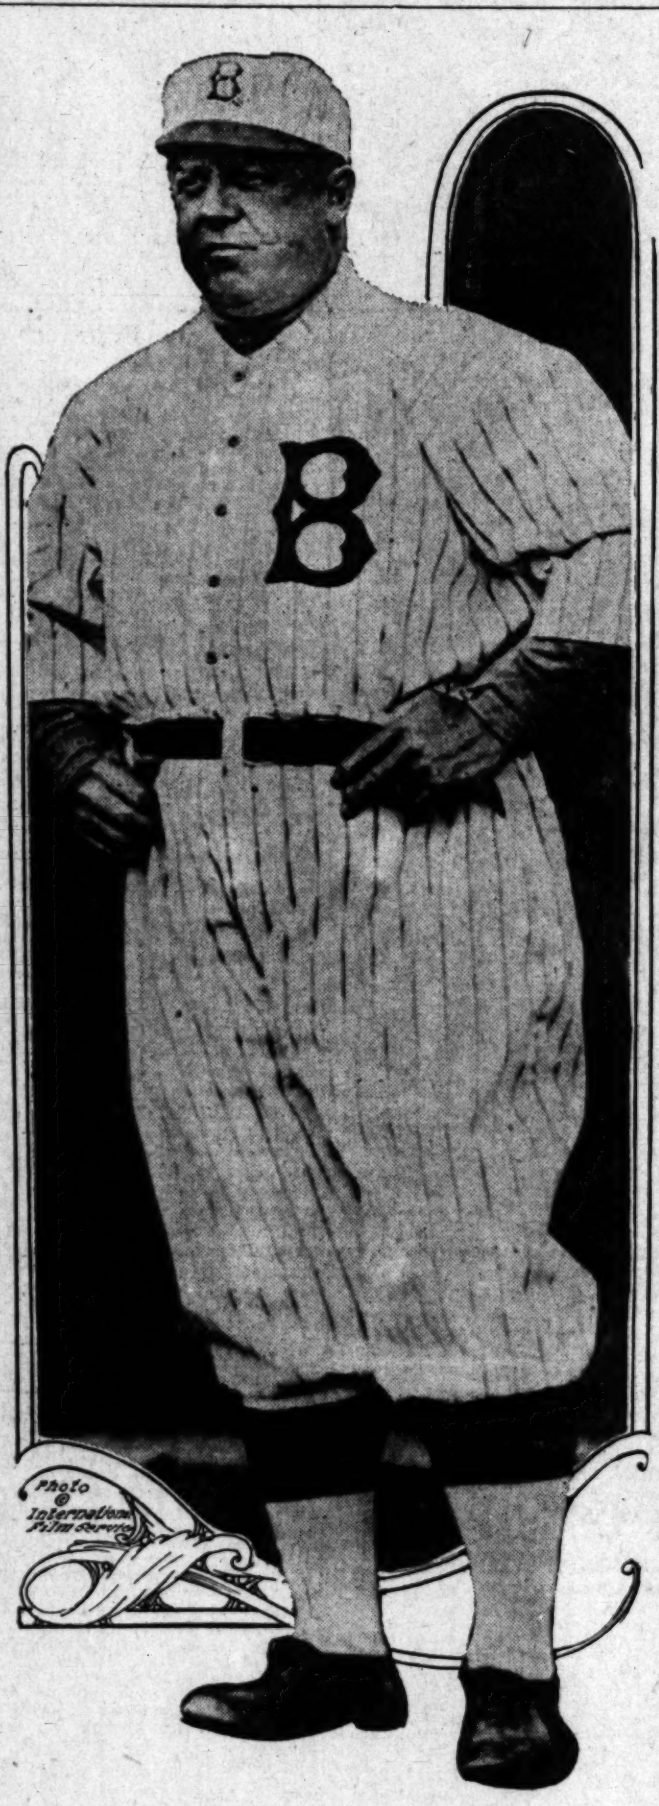

DODGERS BEAT GIANTS IN HARD BATTLE.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.] BROOKLYN, Oct. 3.—Brooklyn clinched the National League pennant today by defeating New York, 9 to 6, while Philadelphia, the runners-up, was losing two games to Boston. The Brooklyn victory gave the leaders an advantage of two and a half games.

The game was a heavy-hitting contest. Poor fielding by Pitcher Smith at the start, gave New York a three-run lead. Brooklyn came back in the third and bunched five hits off Benton and Perritt for four runs. Pfeiffer relieved Smith in the fourth and although New York tied the score in the fifth, he held his hitters in check while Brooklyn's batters were pounding. Perritt and George Smith. Score: NEW YORK: Benton, 4; Perritt, 3; Smith, 1; Oleson, 1; Malla, 1; Mays, 1; Leonard, 1; Jones, 1; Janvin, 1; Hooper, 1; Agnew, 1; Barry, 1; Cady, 1; Foster, 1; Galner, 1; Gardner, 1; Gregg, 1; Hendricks, 1; Hobbs, 1; Stengel, 1; Wheat, 1. REGISTRATION OF AUTOMOBILES LESS.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.] SACRAMENTO, Oct. 3.—During the month of September 5427 automobiles were registered in the State of California, an average of 180 per working day. This was a falling off of 2400 cars over the month of August, when the registrations amounted to 7844. H. A. French, superintendent of the State Motor Vehicle Department, expects that the registrations will now show a steady decrease until the close of the year, when it is expected all former registration records will be broken. The gross receipts of the department for the month of September were $22,432. The total receipts to date are $2,124,876.

VOLGA MAKES SOME SPLASH.

Harrod's Creek Annexes the Second Honors.

Mary Putney Equals World's Record in Mile.

Excellent Time Made in All of the Events.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.] LEXINGTON (Ky.), Oct. 3.—Volga, full sister to Peter Volga, duplicated the latter's achievements in making a new set of records for 3-year-old fillies in winning the 3-year-old trotting division of the Kentucky Futurity, valued at $14,000, and worth $5500 to the winner, at the Kentucky Horsebreeders' Association meeting here today.

FAST STEPPER. The daughter of Peter the Great and Vervolo Belle trotted the third mile in 2:04, thereby lowering the 3-year-old filly record to 2:03 1/2, made by Mary Putney in winning the Kentucky Futurity in 1915. In addition, Volga trotted the three heats in 2:06 1/2, 2:07 and 2:04 1/2 respectively, establishing a new record for three heats for 3-year-old fillies.

Volga's new mark of 2:04 1/2 not only is a new record for 3-year-old fillies, but is a quarter of a second faster than the 4-year-old record for mares made by Joan in winning the Walnut Hall cup seven years ago and equaled by Mary Putney today.

THE RECORD. The 3-year-old record for colts made by Peter Volga, a full brother of Volga, in winning the futurity two years ago, is 2:03 1/2. The corresponding records held by them are the first ever held by brother and sister in the 3-year-old division.

Volga won the rich classic in straight heats, Harrod's Creek furnishing the strongest opposition in the first and second heats, and in the third heat until the half mile, when the remarkable speed of the Peter the Great filly permitted her to draw away from the field.

Mary Putney, in winning the first heat of the 2:06 trot, equalled the world's record of the 4-year-old mare by trotting the mile in 2:04 1/2, which mark was set by Joan in 1909, but it was only a few minutes before Volga's remarkable mile dimmed the luster of Mary Putney's time.

Cox, who drove Mary Putney, had little trouble in winning the 2:06 trot, Ross B. taking second money, and Esperanza third.

The first race on the card for 2:15 class trotters, required five heats before Trusada won two heats and the race, the first four heats being divided among as many horses. David Look, that was first on the fourth heat, which would have given him two heats, was set back to last by the judges for interference, but it was announced that further decisions in the race were reserved.

PETE AGAIN. The 2:05 pace was won by Peter Stevens after Goldie C had crawled up and taken the opening heat.

Lee Axworthy, the holder of the world's trotting record of two minutes flat for trotting stallions, will try to lower his mark tomorrow.

LOCAL SHOT IS CAPTAIN.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.] SACRAMENTO, Oct. 3.—The civilian rifle team that is to represent California in the national matches to be held under the direction of the War Department at Jacksonville, Fla., from October 10 to 26, today was selected by Acting Adjutant-General J. J. Borree from among some of the best-known sharpshooters in the State.

Col. T. F. Cook of Los Angeles, formerly inspector of small arms practice of the Iowa National Guard, has been appointed team captain. The other members of the team, including two alternates, are as follows: G. L. Watkins, Los Angeles; E. C. Crossman, Los Angeles; L. Felsenthal, Los Angeles; H. C. March, Los Angeles; I. O. Gardner, Los Angeles; A. L. Thompson, Los Angeles; E. D. Neff, Los Angeles; C. W. Linder, San Francisco; C. T. Blank, San Francisco; T. C. Williams, San Francisco; S. F. Rogers, San Francisco; George Armstrong, San Francisco; W. C. Richard, San Francisco; and A. Rowland, Oakland.

BEAVERS WILL FINISH THIRD, SAYS M'CREDEE.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.] PORTLAND (Or.), Oct. 3.—"I believe we shall stick in the first division," said Manager Walter M'Credee tonight, "but we have no chance to overhaul Vernon by any stretch of the imagination. Vernon has too good a ball club to give us the hope of overthrowing it. I will say this, however, my present ball club would finish one two in the Coast League if it was starting the season instead of finishing it."

This week we ought to improve our position at the expense of the Oakland Club, while Salt Lake will be battling Vernon at Los Angeles. Salt Lake is in a bad way now and I think Vernon will show that club still farther down. Then, too, San Francisco means Los Angeles and that series seems to be made to order for the Angels."

NOTICE, FANS!

Charley Keppen of the B. H. Dyas Company announces that the company will run a scoreboard in front of their store on Seventh street and will show the world's series baseball championship games play for play. The Dyas company will get their results direct from The Times.

GOOD SHAPE.

All the party landed here in pretty fair shape, with the exception of Boots Weber, club secretary. Boots, as in his custom when the club travels by the coast line, propped his head up on two pillows so as to look at the ocean through the window.

SEALS ARE IN THEIR ELEMENT

Rainy Weather Looks Like Ready Money to Them.

Sun-dried Angels Get the Pulp Knocked Out of 'Em.

[BY HARRY A. WILLIAMS.] [BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.] SAN FRANCISCO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Oct. 3.—The Los Angeles club traveled 400 miles to get out of the wet and then found nothing but rain at this end of the line. One might refer to this as the irony of fate, except for the fact that the irony thing might get rusty in transmission, so soaked has become the land of sunshine.

GOBS OF JOY.

Today's game was played in a rain that brought joy to everybody except the baseball enthusiasts and bean growers. The Angels having demonstrated that they are poor mudders, went down to an 8 to 3 defeat before a crowd which, while small, was large enough to absorb all the water that leaked through the roof at Recreation Park. This is because there is not a leak for every seat. There are only 500 leaks and 500 attended today's game. Thus none of the valuable water went unabsorbed.

The only possible excuse for playing today's game was that Ben Berry and Harry Wolverton had a hunch that the Seals, being more accustomed to sloppy conditions, could beat the pulp out of the sun-dried Angels. They had the right cue. Ping Bodie, the first ever to hit a home run in the fifth, when he slammed the pill over the right-field fence with three on. It is hardly necessary to remark that this scored three men, not to mention Ping himself. Had there been a dozen men on base it would have scored them just as easily as it did Fitzgerald, Schaller and Calve who were the last of the three corners. Four runs coming over in a lump is a depressing spectacle, especially on a day which already was dark and dreary. Early as the second inning Ping poked the ball into the left-field bleachers for a home run. However, as there was nobody on at the time, he readily could have been forgiven for this. But for his feat in the fifth with the pitcher's sack, it would have been a contest with George Washington Zabel standing almost an even chance for his life against Red O'Leary.

Says Simple Remedy Prolonged His Life

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin
Effective as a Rem-

Among older people the various organs of the body have a tendency to slow up and weaken, and this is usu-

Good health is dependent on regu-wherever there is the slightest in-these are too violent in action and their effect is only temporary.

ELKS TO GO TO SANTABARBARA

Channel City will Entertain State Association.

Close Competition Assured in Drill Events.

Antlered Herd will Make Trip in Auto Caravan.

Santa Barbara will be the happy hunting ground for the Elks of California tomorrow, Friday, Saturday and Sunday. It is expected that every lodge in the State will be represented in the attendance, which, it is estimated, will be between 2000 and 4000.

Los Angeles will furnish the spectacular feature of the herding of Elks towards the Channel City. Tomorrow at 12:30 o'clock a caravan of 100 automobiles, carrying 500 members of Los Angeles Lodge No. 24, will leave the city for the trip north. The caravan will be headed by the Elks' band and drill team. En route, they will give an open-air concert at Ventura.

The event that will draw the Elks to Santa Barbara is the third annual convention of the Elks State Association. Dr. Ralph Hagan of this city is president of the association, and Frank Seconover of Berkeley is the secretary. The State officers, in conjunction with Santa Barbara Lodge No. 612, have been working strenuously to make the convention the most successful yet held.

The programme of entertainment is elaborate. It includes parades, banquets, balls, fireworks, a great barbecue, automobile races, exhibition drills and various other events.

SUPPORT CASE ON NEW LEGAL GROUND.

LAWYERS OF OTHER STATES BASIS OF CONTENTIONS.

Mother Divorced at Reno and Remarried Here—Father of Child Objects to Paying—Daughter's Expenses, Because He Lost Her Custody Elsewhere.

Miss Marion Fisher, 15 years old, is the daughter of divorced parents who have remarried. The mother, Mrs. Mabel R. Davies, obtained a divorce from Walter W. Fisher, a post-office clerk in this city, at Reno in 1910. The custody of Marion was awarded to her mother.

Mrs. Fisher came to this city and is now Mrs. Davies. She brought suit against her former husband to compel him to support the girl. He demurred to the complaint on the ground that the custody of Marion was taken away from him. The legal point was also raised whether a decree awarded in another State, where the custody of the child is awarded to the mother, would make the husband liable for its support in this State; also, whether an action could be instituted in a court other than the court which granted the decree.

Attorney J. R. Johnson, counsel for Mrs. Davies, submitted briefs yesterday to the court, and the case is set for trial on Monday. The court will decide whether the husband is liable for the support of the child in this State.

INS AND OUTS ABOUT THE COURTS. DAMAGES AWARDED. A jury in Judge Wilbur's court yesterday gave E. Wendelborn $150 damages against E. T. Earl for injuries received when a motorcycle driven by Ray Thompson, an employee of Mr. Earl, struck him as he was boarding a trolley car. Mr. Thompson was not able to be in court and his deposition was read. The defense set up contributory negligence on the part of Mr. Wendelborn. The latter testified the father will be required to obey the regulation to stop when passengers are getting on or off a car.

AT THE CITY HALL. ONCE MORE THEY PUT CODE OVER. ANOTHER POSTPONEMENT FOR BUILDING ORDINANCE. Public Hearing Adjourned Till Friday Morning, when Council Expects to Pass New Law Unless Reasons can be Shown for Again Deferring It.

Owing to the inability of several members of the Council to be present at the public hearing on the proposed new building code, scheduled for yesterday afternoon, was postponed until Friday morning at 9:30 o'clock.

Councilmen Topham and Wright said that at that time the Council probably will pass the ordinance as it stands, so if any builders, engineers or other interested parties wish to make any protests it will be advisable for them to be on hand. J. J. Backus, superintendent of the department of buildings, said the builders have had ample opportunity to discuss the defects of the ordinance and criticisms have been invited from every fraternity, both in the city and in outside places. The general public wants the ordinance, he stated, and is very anxious to have the matter settled.

CHARGES SUSTAINED. The Civil Service Commission yesterday sustained charges brought against Dr. C. J. Bevan, milk inspector, of alleged inefficiency and incompetence, and ordered him discharged. The charges were made by Dr. Powers, health commissioner.

Dr. Powers testified that Dr. Bevan had not handled his work to the satisfaction of the commission. He accused him of not attending properly to business, of giving good reports to bad places, of overlooking irregularities, and he also criticized his method of scoring milk.

Dr. Bevan asserted he did not get a square deal. He said his work was alright and he was prepared to show it.

TOO TUNEFUL. WHISTLE DISTURBS EM. Constant whistling, which seemed to come from the offices of the Board of Public Utilities, so disturbed employees in the City Auditor's office that an emphatic protest was registered with the board yesterday.

Secretary H. E. Payne, being just back from his vacation, felt in a good humor and promptly investigated. He found that far from one of the employees in the Auditor's office was a total outsider who was doing the tuneless serenading which got on the nerves of the employees in the quarters below.

The secretary discovered that on the roof of a Spring-street building which is on a level with the offices of the Board of Public Utilities there is a machine shop, and within that shop the whistler. Having solved the mystery he informed the Auditor of his discovery and a polite invitation will be sent to the machinist to at least lower his tune.

FOR LOWER WATER RATE. Asking for an ordinance reducing the minimum water rate from 75 cents to 50 cents a month, the Federation of Improvement Association called attention yesterday to a report that the Public Service Board intended to recommend such action. It was announced that no official request of that character had been made and the Council instructed its Public Service Committee to investigate and report.

STRENGTH NECESSARY. Calling attention to the need of a fireproof room in the City Hall, where valuable records may be safely stored, the Finance Committee of the Council yesterday recommended that J. J. Backus, superintendent of buildings, make a survey of the City Hall basement to see what space could be used for vault purposes. It is asserted that documents valued at $2,500,000 are without protection from fire.

CIRCUSES ANNOY THEM. Residents of Exposition Park district asked the Council yesterday to forbid any railroad sidetracking cars trains in any residence district. Mrs. Marie L. Colwell said residents were annoyed by unsanitary conditions, noise and other detrimental results of such parking. The Public Utilities Committee will investigate.

CITY HALL NOTES. Councilman Conwell has been appointed to represent the Council on the organization to arrange for annual district fairs at Exposition Park, as recommended by the Sixth District Agricultural Park Association. The Board of Public Works will inquire into a complaint that Sixth street has been obstructed where it passes through Windsor square by the erection of wooden posts in the thoroughfare, which prevent vehicular traffic. The chief inspector of buildings has recommended that the contract for the construction of the branch City Hall at Van Nuys be awarded to Edwards & Wilder Company for $24,100, but the Board of Public Works has referred the matter to the Council, as the amount exceeds the budget allowance for the structure. The final ordinance for the sewerage of Florence-avenue district was adopted by the Council yesterday.

AFTERMATH. ASSAULT CHARGED AGAINST CAFE MAN. RESULT OF ALLEGED ATTEMPT TO SHOOT DETECTIVE.

Affair Said to be Upshot of Hold-up and Capture of Hobbers, for Which Captains Say They Were Compensated—Accused Remains Silent.

A complaint was issued late yesterday afternoon charging Fred Harlow, cafe proprietor, with assault with a deadly weapon on Thomas M. Miller, a private detective. This was the aftermath of an altercation that occurred in a Broadway saloon Monday night, when Mr. Harlow alleged to have attempted to shoot Miller.

It was only after a day of inquiry by Chief Investigator Hunter of the District Attorney's office that Chief Deputy Crier issued the complaint. This sets forth that Mr. Harlow, after hearing Mr. Miller, leveled a gun at the latter's head and pulled the trigger. That the gun was not discharged is alleged to have been due to the fact that the hammer snapped on Mr. Miller's finger when he grabbed the weapon.

This wound was dressed at the Receiving Hospital. Mr. Harlow was arrested and released shortly after on cash bail of $2000. He refused to discuss the situation and his attorney, Percy Hammond, stated the talking would all be done at the preliminary hearing, the date for which will be set when Harlow is arraigned this morning.

At the time of the encounter Mr. Miller was accompanied by Detective Raymond, his partner in business. Bad feeling between the detectives and Mr. Harlow is said to have existed since a robbery in which Mr. Harlow lost about $3000 in diamonds and money. He offered a reward for the capture of the thieves and the detectives declared they were instrumental in the jailing of the hold-up men and were never compensated.

The paintings are typical of California and harmonize with the color tone of the newly-decorated rooms.

SMUGGLING DEVICE. Hand-made Lace Hid in Pocket Cut in Book.

A clever smuggling device was unearthed in the parcel post department of the customs service yesterday, involving a birthday present to Miss A. E. Shuford of San Dimas from John C. Manning, living in Brazil.

The article was a little book directed to Miss Shuford, the pages of which were so cut as to form a square pocket for a bolt of rare hand-made lace. On the top of the lace was a card bearing on one side the name of Manning, and on the reverse, "Many happy returns and twenty-four 'ahems' where they will do the most good." The matter has been referred to the Collector of Customs.

PERSHING'S W

OFFICIAL

Tentative Agreement
been Reached at

(BY DIRECT WIRE-EXC)

WASHINGTON BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Oct. 4.—Coupling the news from Mexico City that Ambassador Arredondo is returning to the United States with Col. Juan Barragan, chief of staff to Gen. Carranza, with reports from Atlantic City of Secretary Lane's activities, certain officials here have reached the conclusion that a tentative agreement has been reached for the withdrawal of American troops from Mexico.

From other quarters Secretary Lane's activities have been said to be due to an ultimatum from Carranza demanding the disruption of the Atlantic City conferences if the troops were not forthwith withdrawn. The opinion is expressed in official circles here, however, that the drift is not in that direction. It is admitted that Villa came near upsetting the apple cart when he attacked Chihuahua, for that, for the moment, made it impossible for the administration to consent to withdrawal of troops. Now, however, things have calmed down, and if they will only "stay put" for a few days it is thought that an agreement for the withdrawal of the troops can be announced and the situation handled in a way that will be highly beneficial politically to Gen. Carranza and no less so to the administration.

BARRAGAN IS COMING. (BY A. P. WIRE.) MEXICO CITY, Oct. 4.—Col. Juan Barragan, chief of staff to Gen. Carranza, will accompany Emilio Arredondo, Ambassador-designate to the United States, on the latter's return to Washington. According to government officials, Col. Barragan merely intends to take a vacation.
